

A Paper CD Case for Fungi from Yuggoth

If you've put your Fungi from Yuggoth files on a CD by themselves, as mp3 files, or converted into a CD, you're going to need a CD case, so why not make your own?

After printing the "Fungi from Yuggoth Basic CD Sleeve.doc" file, you have very little left to do to have a perfectly good paper CD case.

Using the "Basic Paper CD Case Folding Guide.gif" file illustrations as a guide, fold the sides of your sheet of paper in to the edges of the artwork as in Illustration (4).

Fold the bottom up using the bottom edge of the artwork as a guide as in illustration (5).

Jump right to Illustration (8), where you can see that all you have to do is drop a disc in the pocket formed by the up-folded bottom portion, lightly fold the top two corners, and then fold the top down snugly against the disc while trying to get the top fold to line up with your artwork.

Once you have all of the basic folds in place, take the disc out, and use a pencil to really flatten out the folds.

After that, put your disc back in, tuck in the top flap, and admire your work!

This is one CD case that will never break if you drop it; and yet it will protect your disc at all times.

If you really want to put the effort in, try making a paper CD case using all the folds shown in the "Basic Paper CD Case Folding Guide.gif" file. Personally, I do all of mine the simple way.
